Drawing workshop*

with Cliff Wright illustrator of the Harry Potter Books

No experience necessary

"Through experience and teaching I have come to realise that the true nature of drawing is not some mysterious gift bestowed upon a select few. The potential for creativity is within us all. Exercises are designed to take the fear out of drawing - especially if you are a beginner. It will also enable you to see the world around you more vividly, as if for the first time. The workshop atmosphere is informal, light-hearted and non-competitive." - Cliff Wright
